SENIOR LIVING

AMERICA IS AGING RAPIDLY

America is entering a historic demographic shift.

Nearly 10,000 adults become 80+ every day, the age group most likely to require senior housing, assisted living, and memory care.

This is not a short-term trend. It is a multi-decade demographic reality driven by longevity. The result is a growing demand for middle-market, professionally managed, empathetic senior housing communities.

INVEST IN A GROWING NEED

It's clear that America is aging rapidly, and senior housing isn't keeping up with demand.¹

At Aquinas Senior Living, we see more than a market opportunity. We see a human need. We acquire senior living facilities from regional operators and family-run businesses and transform them—upgrading environments, enhancing amenities, and adding innovative technologies and services that small, independent facilities often cannot provide.

Led by a seasoned team with deep expertise in both real estate and senior care, Aquinas opens the door for everyday investors to participate in institutional-grade real estate and the accelerating demand for quality senior housing.

THE HEART OF AQUINAS SENIOR LIVING

At the heart of our mission are the Aquinas Elements of a Beautiful Life, inspired by the timeless wisdom of St. Thomas Aquinas:

Integritas (Wholeness)

Offering care that supports mind, body, and spirit, helping residents feel valued and whole.

Consonantia (Harmony)

Balancing independence, support, and relationships for a well-ordered, fulfilling life.

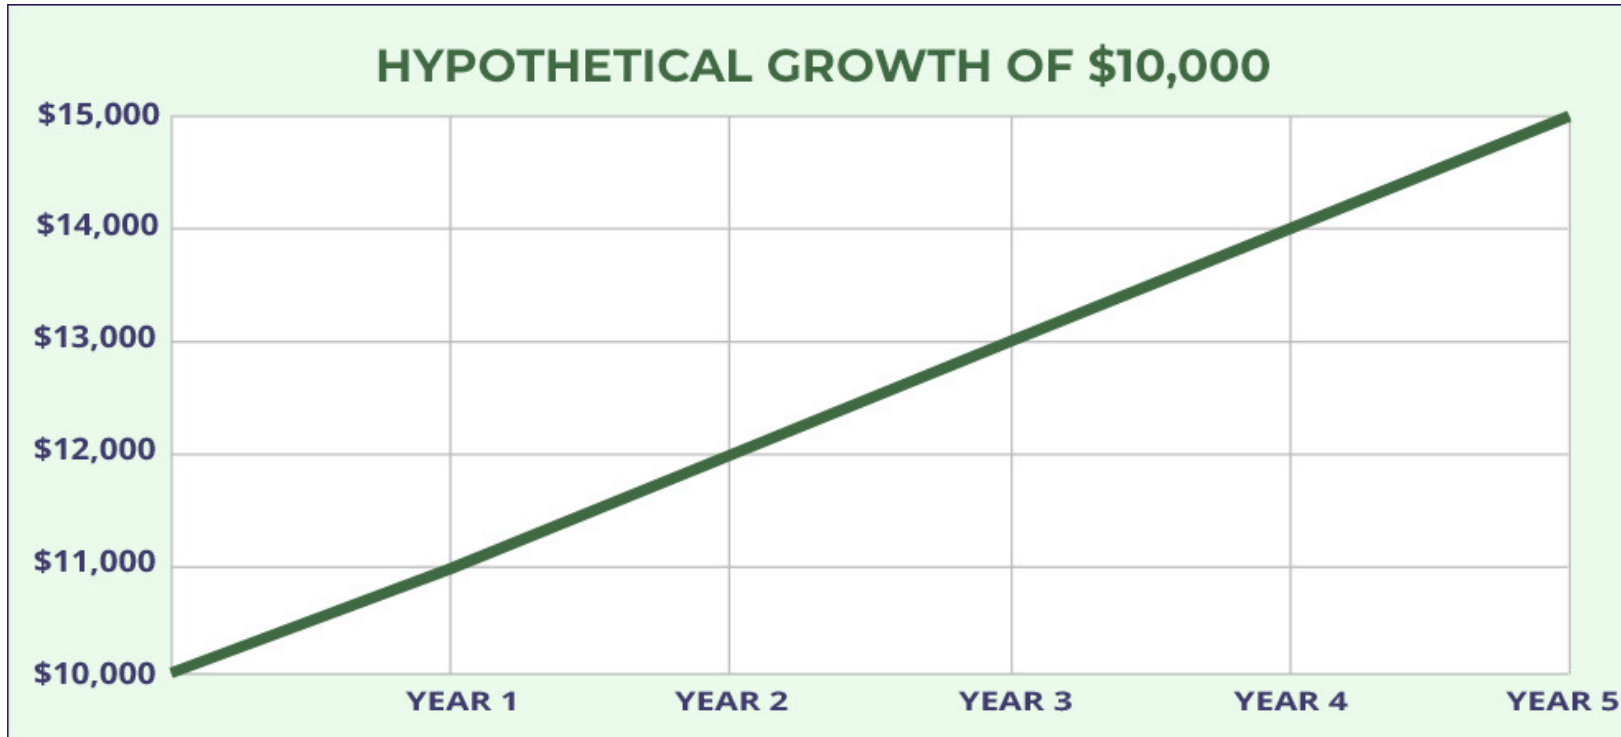

Claritas (Radiance)

Illuminating each resident's inner light through meaningful connections and activities.

These principles guide every decision we make—from the design of our communities, to the integration of innovative technologies and the daily interactions between residents and staff—ensuring that our care honors every season of life.

AIMING FOR MONTHLY INCOME WITHOUT MARKET VOLATILITY

Scheduled monthly income of $83.33 or $1,000 per year over five years.*

Investors are also scheduled to participate in the growth of their original investment, if any, when Aquinas sells its portfolio, or goes public by listing its shares on a major stock exchange.

LEADING THE TRANSFORMATION OF MID-MARKET SENIOR LIVING

We've designed our process to deliver on what we promise, leveraging the advantages of being a multi-facility owner/operator.

Our model is built on three fundamentals: the right communities, the right people, and the right partners.

We put them together to create places where seniors thrive and caregivers want to build careers.

Step 1: Acquire, Refurbish & Improve

We purchase underperforming Class B and C senior living communities that are structurally sound but need improvements.

Our process targets facilities which are priced below replacement cost, have room for value-adding modernizations, and exhibit strong local demand.

These facilities are typically owned by small regional operators—family businesses or individuals who lack capital for growth or are ready to transition ownership due to retirement, succession challenges, or burnout.

- ✓ Facility Improvements: Renovations and expansions where appropriate.
- ✓ Amenities: Enhancing existing amenities and introducing new ones.
- ✓ Services: Adding offerings such as memory care and on-site pharmacy services.
- ✓ Technology and Systems: From operational systems to AI-powered safety enhancements, we implement the technology infrastructure that best suits our communities and is rarely found at smaller operators in the middle market.

Lewisburg, PA*

Step 2: Invest in the Care Team

We aim to build environments where the best caregivers want to build their careers.

- ✓ Empathy-First Hiring: You can't teach empathy. We look for it from the start and build a culture that nurtures it.
- ✓ Training & Development: Ongoing education, competitive pay, benefits, and clear career paths.

Becoming the best place to work helps us attract and retain strong teams, deliver better care, and drive operational excellence across our communities—which we believe contributes to higher demand.

Step 3: Enhance Care with Proven Partners

Our partnerships bring hospital-grade capabilities into mid-market communities:

- ✓ Merakey: A national leader in behavioral healthcare helps us offer services typically found only in large-scale facilities, including on-site pharmacy services and behavioral health support.

- ✓ Teton: In use for years in Europe, Teton brings advanced, AI technology to senior living. Designed for preventive care, Teton interprets body movement and room activity in real-time—without using video—then sends only meaningful alerts to our care team.

Traditional care waits for incidents to happen. Teton shifts the focus to prevention, alerting staff to subtle changes in behavior or wellbeing, before they turn into emergencies.

SENIOR HOUSING AND CARE ARE RECESSION-RESILIENT NEEDS

For many families, senior care isn't optional—it's essential. That's why well-operated senior housing often outperforms other types of commercial real estate.¹

Even during downturns, the demand for high-quality senior living and compassionate care remains strong.

A FRAGMENTED MARKET BUILT FOR STRATEGIC ACQUISITION

*Aquinas Senior Living Property:
Heritage Springs Memory Care,
Montoursville, PA*

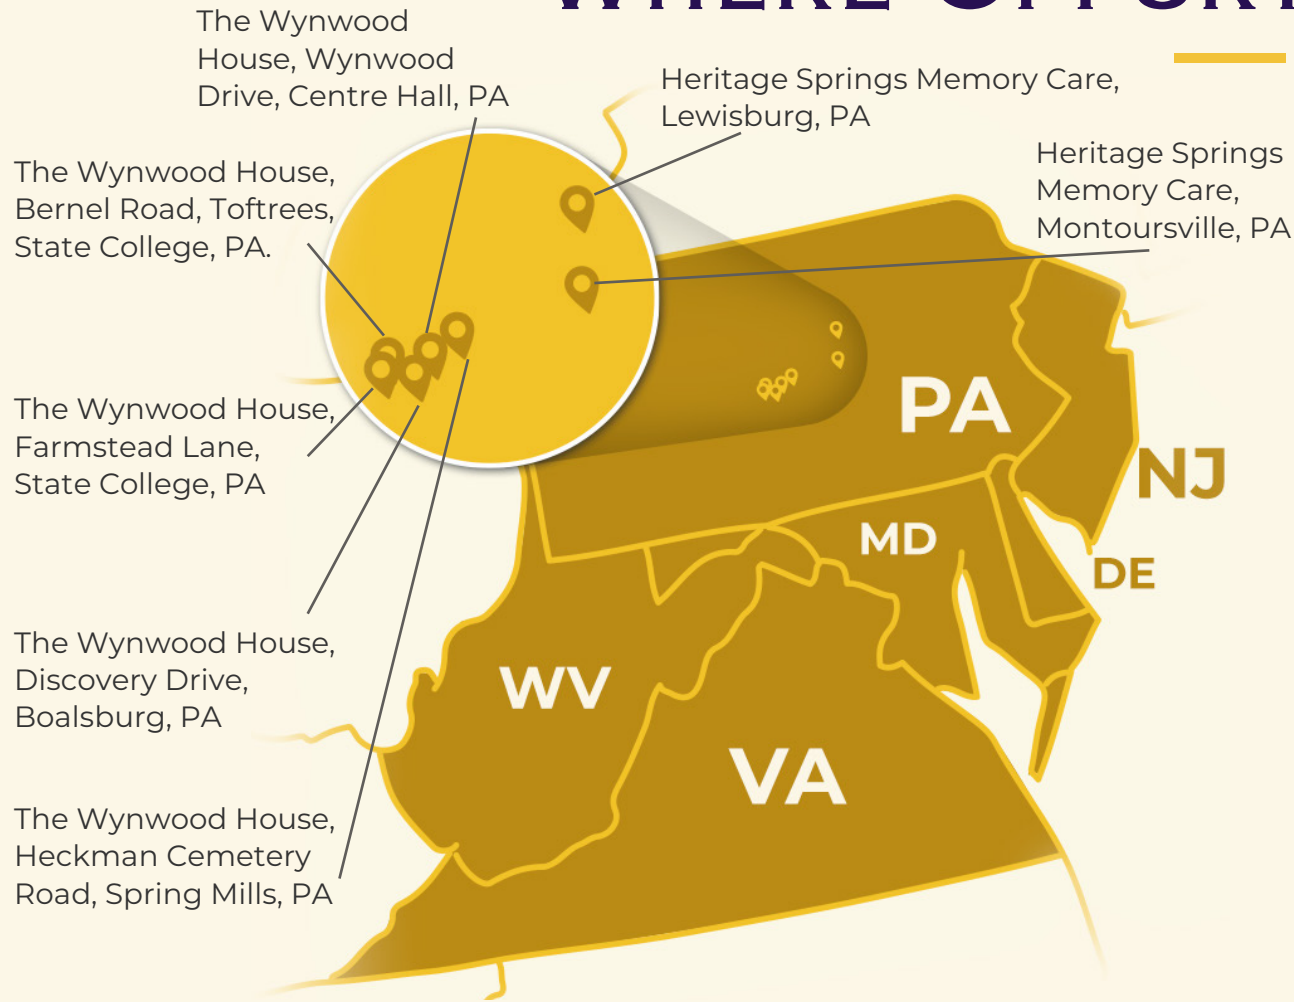

Many senior living properties are owned by regional operators, individuals, or families without a succession plan. This creates a steady pipeline of acquisition opportunities ideally suited to our hands-on strategy. We focus on buying, upgrading, and professionally operating these facilities to unlock long-term value.

Acquire → Upgrade → Empower Caregivers → Operate → Investor Returns

Sometimes the best opportunities are right in your own backyard.

Founded and operated in the Mid-Atlantic, Aquinas Senior Living targets this region, where demand for quality senior care is rising.
